Forecast For Tayside, Central & Fife
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Wednesday 27 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry with sunshine increasing into the afternoon.

Today:
A few isolated showers before mid-morning, and misty in places, but most staying dry, with bright and sunny spells increasing into and through the afternoon. Winds light from north to northeast. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
Widespread deep frost for Tayside. Cloud gradually thickening and lowering in south, bringing risk of rain, snow to Central Belt towards dawn, as winds veer easterly and freshen a touch. Minimum temperature -6 deg C (21 deg F).

Thursday:
Patchy rain and snow in the Central Belt spreading erratically northwards to all from around mid-day and persisting through the evening and night. Easterly breezes. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Cloud rain and snow early Friday soon clearing to sunshine and the odd isolated shower. Saturday mainly dry, bright with light winds. Snow then rain spreading from west Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.